Freelance Photographer

For over more than 4 years, I've been capturing people, places, and perspectives through film and digital photography. My favorite projects are people-related.

Truth in artistry, artistry in truth. This is the fine balance I strive to achieve in my work, where photography is so much more than mere documentation. To me, a picture must inspire a thousand words; it must spur discussion, trigger reflection, or surface emotions. Only then do I know my photography has succeeded.

Personal Project

This portrait collection was developed over a period of 12 years. I sought people of all colors as my subjects during my travels, capturing them in their element and natural environments.
